PROFILE

As a seasoned public relations and marketing professional with five years of experience in the robust Hong Kong real estate market, I have seen firsthand the power of technology to transform businesses. However, it was the pandemic that truly opened my eyes to the urgent need for digital transformation in every industry.

Determined to be part of this transformation, I am currently diving headfirst into the world of computational thinking and programming. Through rigorous coursework and self-study, I am equipping myself with the skills and knowledge necessary to lead digital initiatives at visionary organizations in the future.
